

We do web.

And you?

- You have a web idea and you want it realized.
- You have no idea but you want it realized anyway.
- You never asked for this paper and have no intention of reading it...

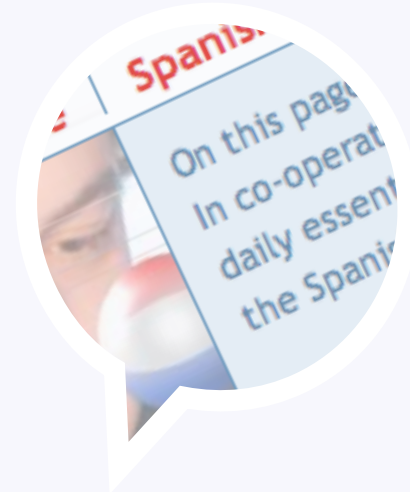

We are a small team and highly passionate about the web. We create web solutions that breath this passion. We want to work with people who value results over reports.

Next Action:

- read the rest of this paper
- email thomas@webtypes.com
- call +34 937410216
- recycle this paper

Happy People

Good design makes for happy people who feel in control while using your web site.

Simplicity

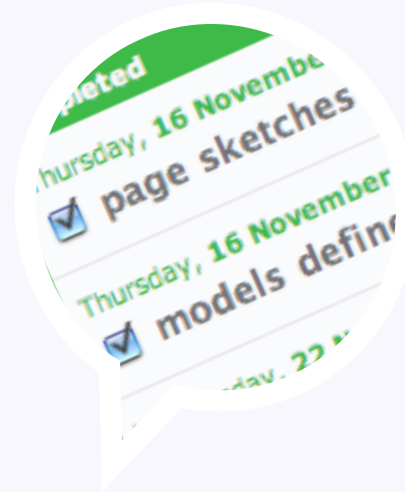

The functionality behind your web site might be complex, using it should be simple. Simplicity comes at a price: or-or decisions. We call this design.

Beauty

Beauty makes you want to be there. Functional beauty makes you want to stay and come back. Details make your web site stand out from the rest.

Real Project

An iterative and incremental process drives your project to its goal, on time and on budget.

Iterative

In theory you know exactly what you want. In practice you will be better off with weekly iterations where you can play with your web site and adjust your ideas.

Flexible

We base your project on a fixed price and a fixed deadline but keep the scope adjustable so we can inter-trade functionalities and still deliver on time.

Open Web

Use of open standards connect your web site and make it accessible for man and machine.

Standards

International web standards like those of the W3C and WAI, make the web work. We will make sure your web site plays nice with those standards.

Accessible

People with disabilities should be able to use and understand your web site. And to make you feel a little stronger about this: Google will be your most disabled user.